

✓ 1.00/1.00 points

What part of a Django application handles session management?

Middleware

Correct

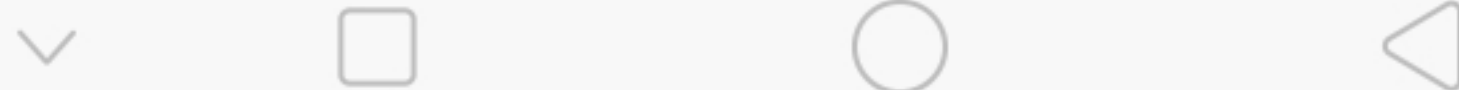

Models

Templates

Views

✓ 1.00/1.00 points

Where are cookies stored?

- ☐ In the Python code
- ☐ In the database
- ☒ In the browser

Correct

- ☐ In elasticache

✓ 1.00/1.00 points

Which protocol determines how cookies are sent back and forth?

- ☐ CSS
- ☐ SQL
- ☐ HTML
- ☒ HTTP

Correct

- ☐ ORM

✓ 1.00/1.00 points

Which of the following Python structures is most like cookie storage?

- ☐ list
- ☒ dictionary

Correct

- ☐ set
- ☐ database connection
- ☐ Template

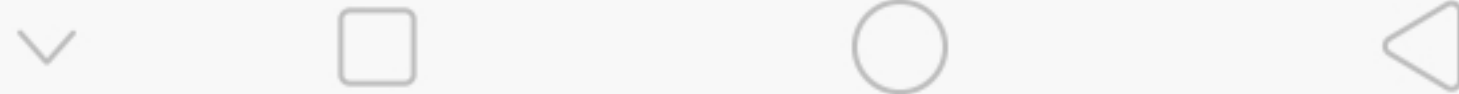

✓ 1.00/1.00 points

Any server can read any cookie from any other server.

☐ True

☒ False

Correct

✓ 1.00/1.00 points

What kind of cookies are deleted when the browser is closed?

- ☐ Encrypted cookies
- ☐ Bitcoin cookies
- ☒ Session cookies

Correct

- ☐ Inverse cookies

✓ 1.00/1.00 points

What is the method you call in a Django view to set a cookie?

- ☐ request.setCookie()
- ☒ response.set_cookie()

Correct

- ☐ $_COOKIES[]
- ☐ response.cookie.set()

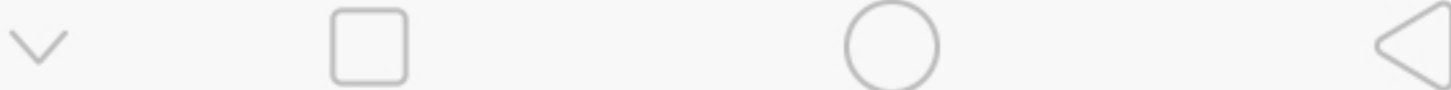

✓ 1.00/1.00 points

How many times do you need to set a cookie for it to persist across a number of incoming requests?

- ☐ On every request
- ☐ On every response to a POST request
- ☐ On every non-anonymous request
- ☒ Once

Correct

✓ 1.00/1.00 points

Where is session data typically stored in a Django application?

- ☐ In JavaScript variables
- ☐ In the browser
- ☐ On the end user's hard drive
- ☒ In the server

Correct

✓ 1.00/1.00 points

How do you set a key of 'abc' to the value 'test' in the session in a Django application?

- ☐ request.session.get('abc', 'test');
- ☒ request.session['abc'] = 'test';

Correct

- ☐ $_SESSION['abc'] = 'test';
- ☐ request.session['abc', 'test'];

Done

